Kayla Foster posted a condolence When i was younger Uncle Chuck would come down to Arkansas and tell us kids the wildest stories. One in particular, for some reason i believed when i was a child that brown cows made chocolate milk and white cows made white milk. He went along with the story and actually made it seem real to me that these cows did this. Even when i got older he would always ask me about those brown cows. I will remember him as someone who made sure whoever was around him had a smile on their face. He will be missed.

John Webb posted a condolence I've got to many memories that are running threw my mind. From going up north with you and you would horse bite on the leg if we fell asleep. Riding in the back of the truck to go canoeing you gave me my very first drink of Boone's Farm wine. Always was welcomed to come up there to hunt. You will be missed RIP Uncle Chuck love ya

Jeannette Miles posted a condolence When you go to his house always welcomed warm but stay on your toes Lord a man that kept your reflexes on timing. Loved a good laugh an a great joke. Loved his yard gnomes an yard an anything to do with out side. He was one that got his hands on some of the funniest craziest things even if it was for entertainment. Uncle Chuck will be missed but always in my heart.
