Another great memory that we laugh over is the four of us in the Chevette and Charlie found Randy's teargas pistol and didn't know what it was and set it off in his face! Randy pulled the car over and they both got out and had to use a commercial watering system to rinse the tear gas out of their eyes! Crazy Times, but good times, and a joy to remember him.

We enjoyed our time together as couples and we are remembering the time we were at the Mount Pleasant theater and Charlie was messing around and he had a huge bucket of popcorn, and it went flying all over! Good times good memories. Our thoughts and prayers are with you.
